

Solution for Entering, Sleeping, Working & Dining in Unfavorable Directions

Steps to Shift the Chi:

1. Copy and cut out one of the Lo Shui Square Turtles on page 40.
2. On the reverse side of the image, write the following:
 - a. The optimal direction you want to tap into in 2010
 - i. East Group individuals: "East" is the optimal in 2010
 - ii. West Group individuals: "West" is optimal in 2010
 - b. Your Major Intentions for 2010. (I.e. Peace, Abundance, Joy, Love)
 - c. Sign and date it.
3. Placement of Turtle.
 - a. Beds: If your headboard is in wrong direction and you cannot move your bed to the correct position, place the Turtle directly on the wall behind your headboard on the side of the bed that you sleep on. Tape it so the Turtle side is facing into the room.
 - b. Computers: If your computer is facing the wrong direction and you absolutely cannot move or angle the screen properly, place this under your mouse pad with Turtle side facing up.
 - c. Desk: If your desk is facing the wrong direction and you absolutely cannot move it to face your optimal direction in 2010, place on top of desk with Turtle side facing up. It can be hidden under a desk blotter or paperweight.
 - d. Chair: If you cannot sit facing your optimal position when dining, place under your chair with the turtle image facing the floor.
 - e. Doorways: If your door to home or office is facing an unfavorable direction and you cannot use a more optimal facing door, place the turtle under your doormat, on door or over doorway with turtle image facing up/into room.

Solution for Entering, Sleeping, Working & Dining in Unfavorable Directions

Lo Shu Turtle

The Lo Shu Square on the Turtle's back holds the key to feng shui and is the foundation for many feng shui formulas including The 8 Life Aspirations, The 8 Mansions Formula & Flying Stars Feng Shui.